THE POWER OF TEAMS

A key leadership skill in today's workplace is to get people working towards a common goal, often through the use of teams. Unfortunately, most managers and supervisors unintentionally interfere with their own team building efforts through a lack of awareness.

This seminar helps you become more skillful and thoughtful about how to make the most of teams.

This workshop utilizes instructor presentation, reflection, small and large group discussion, video clips, assessment tools and experiential activities to explore the following topics:

- The leadership skills you need to create and empower high-performing teams.
- Communication patterns that diminish personal and team effectiveness.
- Strategies to address four major aspects of teamwork – decision making, task, communication and motivation.
